

Bio - Mary Miltenberger

I am a lifelong Dayton, Ohio, native, married to John with 4 stepchildren and a growing number of grandchildren.

I graduated University of Dayton with a bachelor's of science in Medical Technology, which applies to all departments of the laboratory. Worked 20-plus years in the clinical laboratory setting, primarily in microbiology.

I trained at home in medical transcription, began working on site for a local acute care facility in 2000. I have since worked from home for acute care as well as several services with multiple accounts. I obtained my CMT in 2005 and have continued renewal.

I am currently Vice President of the BAC-AHDI chapter, as well as co-moderator of an ongoing web-based RMT/CMT study group. I have also presented a continuing education webinar in 2010 and will be giving another in 2011.

If I'm not banging a keyboard, I like to grow lawns and flowers, refinish wood, and read fiction, as well as torment grandchildren and visit out-of-town children.
